SUMMARY

I put AI agents into production inside operations that already have to work, and I own what they do. Fourteen years leading retail operations at scale came first: five building at Apple, three scaling at Nike. At Seabery I built a Customer Success function from 3 people to 25 across three continents, cut backlog by 95% and drove 40% US sales growth. Today I design the process, decide which parts an agent can own, then wrap it in approval gates and an audit trail so a human can see what it did and stop it. I run every agent on my own work before it goes anywhere near a team.

Kemdrix Studio | Founder & Operator

January 2024 - Present | Remote

Independent operations and AI practice, run in parallel with and after my last corporate mandate. Full ownership end to end: strategy, build, analytics and revenue outcomes.

Drumelia | Head of Operations & Digital Transformation

December 2024 - March 2026

Hired to build operational infrastructure from zero in a company with no CRM, no structured pipeline, and no data governance.

Designed and deployed end-to-end digital operations: HubSpot CRM, lead scoring, automated routing, and centralized attribution. Built AI-powered automation workflows using Make and n8n, with human-in-the-loop review to ensure output quality.

Applied LLM architecture knowledge (Oracle GenAI certified) to design intelligent agents for client profiling, qualification, and reporting. Established data governance framework covering pipeline integrity, enrichment standards, and metric definitions.

Built the department from 3 to 25 people across Europe, Asia, and Americas. Defined customer tiers, created playbooks, trained partners, and aligned CS with software, engineering, and sales for the first time. Adopted SAFe to structure the growing cross-functional operation.
